- Ricardo Pineda is originally from El Salvador and since 2000 has been serving in a challenging urban area in San Jose, California. - Hermie Smit is originally from South Africa and leads CityTeam Family Services as they serve the poor with basic necessities like food, clothing, furniture, etc. to identify those who want to learn more about God and empower them to discover God through His Word and Christian fellowship. He has dedicated his life over the past 3 years to see a church planting movement happening in the San Francisco Bay Area and they are seeing the planting of first, second and third generation churches in this area.
- Joe Hernandez led in strategy development and in the development of the Church Planting System, now called Church Planting Process, which provides for the equipping of church planters and those that work with church planters in North America (particularly among Baptist churches).
